Chapter One: Departure

This is page one of four. The ferry left the north pier at seven in the morning with eleven passengers, two dogs and a crate of seed potatoes for the island store.

Chapter Two: The Crossing

This is page two of four. The crossing takes forty minutes in calm weather. Today the sea was flat and the gulls followed the boat the whole way.

Chapter Three: Arrival

This is page three of four. The island harbor was busy with the morning catch being unloaded. The potatoes went straight up the hill to the store on a hand cart.

Chapter Four: Return

This is page four of four. The ferry turned round within the hour and sailed back with the mail, three passengers and an empty crate.
